

THE FOREST AND ANTS :-

Once there was a forest.....

In the forest there were some ants which lived there very happily and used to collect nectar from flowers..... 😊

Then humans entered into the forest and built roads..... for their own luxuries and facilities. They didn't even bother about ants in the forest.

The ants started to move to the other side of the forest. They lost their homes.... They thought at least they could find homes at other sides of the forest.

But then came the bad news to ants.....

Humans were not satisfied with the road they built on one side of the forest, they also wanted to conquer all the forest where ants lived happily and built their city.

Within a year humans built a new city in that forest. All the ants left the forest and went to another forest.....

Ants went to a new forest. There with their hard work they could built a new city for them.

Similarly, I also lost all my ways to study after my 12th. Fortunately I've got into a new ant hill called FWSA .Hope I can find a better path in FWSA, through which I can rebuild my dream forest.
